

THE UNIVERSITY OF WINNIPEG

Department of English

4-Year BA

Young People's Texts and Cultures

The specialization in Young People's Texts and Cultures allows students to focus on texts created for a specific, limited audience of readers and viewers. This stream shares with Studies in Literatures and Cultures an interest in literary history, form, genre, and the place of literature among the other arts and within historical contexts. In addition, the YPTC stream introduces students to the study of such other texts as toys, games, picture books, digital media, films, and performances. Students completing the course of studies recommended below will have their specialization in Young People's Texts and Cultures noted on their transcripts.

Students are required to fulfill all current requirements for a 4-Year B.A. in English.

Required English Courses

48-66 credit hours of study in English of which 6 credits will be in First-Year English courses, including either ENGL-1000/3 or ENGL-1001/6
